Today

Today

100% recycled Trevira CS
300 cm (118") wide
12 colours

Today is a semi-transparent plain weave curtain textile with a light and gentle character. It is crafted from a twisted, spun polyester yarn by Trevira CS eco, which is flame-retardant and derived from 100% recycled post-production waste. Its cotton-like structure evokes a natural look and feel.

The slight variations in the finely spun yarn create subtle irregularities, which contribute to the specific expression of the curtain. As the yarn is used in both the warp and the weft, this effect occurs in both directions, resulting in a shifting but harmonious, balanced structure that is reminiscent of crossing lines.

Today is an uncomplicated, versatile curtain with a soft and stable touch. The curtain can be hung vertically and horizontally and is reversible, as each side has a unique appearance. One side has a subtle lustrous shimmer, created by a calender finish that gives a smooth and silky glazed surface. The other side remains matte and crisp, like cotton.

The colour palette for Today is suitable for everyday use and impresses with natural powdery and chalky tones like Sea salt, Eclipse, Sky and Slate, that generate a calming, yet vivid atmosphere. Echoing the colours of Tonight, both curtains can be combined seamlessly to create a joyful interplay of varying shades and transparencies that emphasise their individual character.

Trevira CS eco

Today is crafted from a newly developed yarn by Trevira CS eco, derived from 100% pre-consumer recycled content. This innovative, high-quality yarn is also flame-retardant.
